SU-PER[®] Cod Liver Oil

Helps Support a Healthy Coat!

Provides essential fatty acids.

SU-PER[®] Cod Liver Oil is a natural source of Essential Fatty Acids, and vitamins A and D. It supports a healthy skin and coat, as well as provides a source of fat for energy in the performance horse.

Essential Fatty Acids (EFA's) are the healthy fats required for numerous functions in the body, and are present in the membranes that surround all cells within the body. All immune cell functions, organ systems, smooth muscle activity, and the body's inflammatory responses, rely directly on the availability of these essential fatty acids for optimal function. They are referred to as essential because the body cannot produce them on it's own, it must be added to the diet.

Cod Liver Oil has naturally high amounts of the Omega 3's referred to as DHA and EPA, which are responsible for immune response and inflammatory response. This is one advantage of feeding a marine oil instead of something like Flax Seed Meal for EFA's.

SU-PER[®] Cod Liver Oil is the best choice for providing high amounts of EFA's to the performance horse. Cod Liver Oil is very pungent, so please introduce it to the horse's feed very slowly and in small increments until the horse is used to this new taste/smell. If your horse simply will not eat SU-PER[®] Cod Liver Oil, you can consider using our plant based source of Essential Fatty Acids - SU-PER[®] OmegaFLAX.
