Instructions

Preparation - Clean and dry the horse's coat to remove dirt, sweat, and oils. You may have to trim excess hair if needed for better adhesion. Rounding the tape edges with scissors will help prevent peeling.

Cautions - Do not tape over open wounds, infections, acute fractures, or irritated skin. Avoid taping pregnant or lactating mares unless cleared by a veterinarian.

Measuring & Cutting - Measure tape length according to the muscle or joint area. Cut strips and round corners for better adhesion.

Anchoring - Apply the first 2 to 3 inches of tape with no stretch - this is called the anchor. Rub gently to activate the adhesive.

Application - Stretch the horse's muscle before applying tape. Apply tape with light tension (10–20%) along the muscle or fascia.
End with another anchor with no stretch.

Activation - Rub the tape after application to warm the adhesive which will improve adhesion. Watch the horse for signs of discomfort or itching.

Removal & Aftercare - Remove tape slowly in the direction of hair growth. Watch the skin for irritation and give some days of rest between applications.
